

Bio of Greg Huber

Greg Huber is a barn and house historian, an independent scholar, consultant and principal owner of Past Perspectives and Eastern Barn Consultants – both historic and cultural resource companies based in Macungie, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania.

Huber since 1974 has specialized in pre-Civil War era house and barn architecture of Holland Dutch and Pennsylvania Swiss-German areas. He has documented more than 8,000 vernacular buildings that include more than 5,000 homestead barns.

He is author of more than 290 articles on barn and house architecture. He edited and published the first barn research journal from 1991 to 1994. Huber also is co-author of two books – the second edition of The New World Dutch Barn (2001) and Stone Houses – Traditional Homes of Pennsylvania's Bucks County and Brandywine Valley (2005). He has also led nearly 150 tours in the past twenty-five plus years and delivered more than 250 lectures on house and barn architecture. He won the Alice Kenney award in 1997 and the Allen Noble Book Award in 2003 issued by the Pioneer America Society for the best edited book on material culture in North America.

Greg Huber's 240-page book – The Historic Barns of Southeast Pennsylvania – Architecture and Preservation 1750 to 1900 was published by Schiffer Publishing in July 2017. It has achieved Number One on the Amazon best-selling list in the specific category – Vernacular Architecture.
